

Halloween, Two Time Zones

A one-hour mystery date for a couple doing October apart.

Make a little space for October.

You each hold half the clues. Together, find the train, follow its route, and open the right locker. The rest of the evening is yours. No costumes or acting required.

03	Send a clear invitation	12	B: the route ledger
04	Set up both sides	13	B: the symbol key
05	Your hour together	14	Optional hints
06	Read the opening together	15	The answer and ending
07	The shared case sheet	16	Stay for the conversation
08	A: the departure board	17	Keep one small thing
09	A: the station map	18	If the plan changes
10	A: the locker plates	19	Your date plan
11	B: the ticket fragment	20	Finish and references

Tap a section to jump. Use CONTENTS at the foot of any page to return. Type into the planning fields in a supporting PDF reader, then save your copy.

An actual plan for the next call.

This is your kind of night if...

You live in different places, have about an hour, and want to do something together instead of choosing another show.

What you are getting

One gentle Halloween mystery, two complementary clue packets, optional hints and a personal note to keep. No murder, gore or jump scares.

SEND THIS

“Want to do a little Halloween mystery together on [date]? About an hour, over our usual call. Bring a pen and something to drink. I have the rest.”

One $7 purchase covers you and one partner for private play. No extra app, streaming subscription or printer is required.